Jill is a Senior Consultant in Findley Davies' Actuarial Services Practice joining the firm in 1999. Jill has significant actuarial and employee benefits consulting experience providing a wide range of retirement and retiree health care consulting services. She is responsible for overseeing actuarial valuations, forecasts, plan compliance, plan design studies and strategies, benefit calculations, spreadsheets, databases, and government forms. Jill's knowledge and background include actuarial calculations and administration of pension, ASC statement, and retiree health care plans. Jill recently helped a client gain a better understanding of their underfunded pension plan status while studying possible funding policies to help them determine the best strategy to gain a better financial position for the plan. In addition, Jill assisted with face-to-face meetings for participants presented with a change in plan design.

What's Your Passion?

My number one passion is spending as much time as possible with my two boys. I love watching them play their various sports (baseball, basketball, soccer), hiking through our neighborhood woods, building forts and playing games. As a family, we love venturing into downtown Cleveland and experiencing all the wonderful things the city has to offer. In my quiet time, I love to read cookbooks and experiment with new recipes.

Professional and Community Involvement

- Northfield Elementary School, Tutor, 2012 to present
