Rich Russell has over 30 years of actuarial and employee benefit consulting experience. He supervises the preparation of actuarial valuations, cost estimates, plan design analysis, benefit calculations, databases and related projects.

Rich has been involved in a large number of special projects involving extensive revision of pension data. These projects have often required in-depth analysis of methods and procedures in order to identify problem areas and the frequency and magnitude of potential errors. Many of these projects have resulted in the need to perform revised benefit calculations based on corrected data formulas.

Education
