Personalized Communication Solutions

Online Communication

Doug Weidner is a Senior Consultant in the Change Management Practice who joined the firm in 2007. Before joining Findley Davies, he was a personalized communication consultant for nine years with a large international consulting firm.

Doug has extensive experience in helping clients effectively communicate with their employees on a personal level. His skills as a senior data analyst help clients manage their risk and maximize HR effectiveness through improved employee data. Doug supports clients by developing data imports/exports, cleaning data files, and calculation programming for personalized statements such as total compensation reports. He works with organizations in a wide variety of industries to produce award-winning, personalized communications.
